Retail Risk's 20th Anniversary is when I make good on my promise...

Over the years, innumerable supporters of Retail Risk have provided help and assistance.

Without them, we would not be the global conference series that we are today. I am grateful to one and all.

And thinking back, I know I have often said, when thanking our benefactors, "I owe you a beer!"

So, now it is time to make good on that promise...

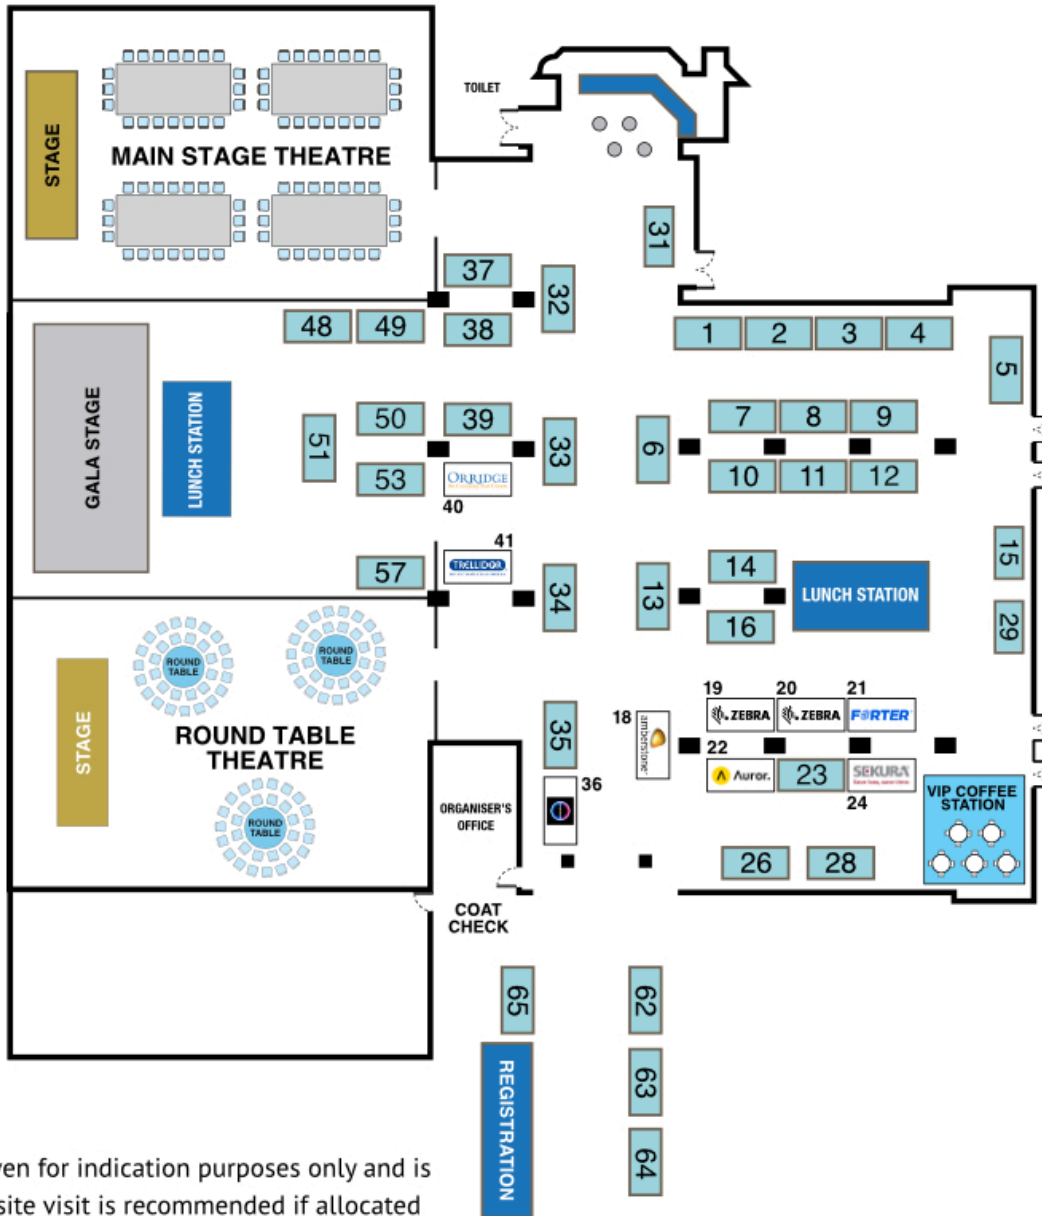

I have put 500 beers 'behind the bar' at Retail Risk – London, which opens around midday. Please make sure to order one and enjoy it over lunchtime, as a small token of appreciation for your support.

CHEERS!

Floorplan

Register for Retail Risk – Leicester, followed by the Fraud Awards 2022...

To mark our twentieth anniversary, we are planning an outstanding conference followed by the inimitable Fraud Awards, to which the whole of the retail risk management industry is invited...

Key points about this year's conference

- An industry leading speaker roster consisting of presentations from world class experts. You will gain information that is priceless to any retail business
- Many speakers are exclusive to Retail Risk conferences
- Real life retailer case studies mean that you can learn from those who 'learned the hard way' so you don't have to!
- The whole event is free to attend for retailers, law enforcement personnel and bona fide academics
- If you miss it, then you miss out! Our events are NEVER available to watch on demand
- We serve free refreshments throughout the day plus an excellent, hot lunch
- Check out our Sponsor Gallery with all the latest industry innovations. After all the event is free because our sponsors pay for it! So please be sure to engage with them before and during the conference – they have some of the best retail risk management solutions available anywhere in the world
- All activities are held under the Chatham House Rule. The Press is excluded. You can talk openly about challenges in a safe virtual environment
- And don't forget to invite as many colleagues from other departments in your business as you can, to help them better understand key issues and allow your business to make better informed decisions. That includes Finance, IT, HR, Logistics and Operations.

To attend this conference, you MUST register in advance. We need to make sure that only those people who should be attending do so.
